All Ulstermen Declare Volunteers Will Regist to Last Cartridge.

CRISIS CONTINUUES; GOVERNMENT STOLID

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN,

By FREDERIC 2, HASKIN,

BELFAST, Ireland, June 4.—Someimos, when there is threat of real trouble, it is worth while to leranks the leaders of men and go to the men themseaves if one would accursiely plumb the depths of a people's feeting. It is only by so doing that the true spirit of Ulater can now be gaged.

Ask the riveter saving the huge shippard in Belfast, ask the tramway conductor, ask the porter at the hotel door, ask the waiter at your table or the barmad. There is but one answer: The government must give in,
We will not have home rule!"

How will you help yourselves."
quaries the innocent visitor. Again there is but one answer: "The Volunteers!"

Book of that prideful boast there

Back of that prideful boast there lies, of course, a deep seated belief that leyal sodders wearing the king's red coat will hever about at Ulster men, who are the king's most loyal subjects. But if they should, then Ulster volunteers will shoot those soldiers with good conscience and perfect faith in their own untarnished loyalty.

rect faith in their own authorists loyalty.

"Ulater Has 1,580,000.

"Ulater," be it remembered in these articles, means that "Ulater" now under covenant to fight home rule under the Orange flag. The province of Ulater as a geographical unit is composed of ten counties, and has a population of 1,580,000 out of the total Irish population of 4,880,000. According to religious belief the people of Ulater are divided into $90,000 Roman Catholica, 266,000 Epizcopalians, 422,000 Presbyterians, 50,000 Methodists and about 50,000 of all other denomina-

Presbyterians, 50,500 Methodists and about 50,000 of all other denominations.

Geographically these religious sections, with their reflected political differences are so divided that four of the tan counties are Protestant and Unionist, four are Catholic and Nationalist, and two are approximately everly divided. The four Unionist counties are in the northeast of the presidence and occupy about one-fourth of its territorial extent, although having half of its population.

From these four counties are drawn the chief strength of the United volunteers, but there are regiments from every one of the ten counties.

Are Well Drilled.

The United volunteers came into existence more than two years ago when the lime Rule hill was first introduced by the government. The regiments have been armed, have been drilled, have spent much time in target practice, and have been put through maneuvers of mobilization, forced marches, and the like. Their drilling has had little of the parade ground stamp—it has been looking forward to actual fighting conditions. Colors have been presented to each regiment, and these have been blessed in the field with elaborate ceremony by the bishops of the Church of Ireland and the ministers of the Presbyterian church.

In Belfast county alone there are

Belfast county alone there are than 40,000 soldiers. As Bractivall of them are working men, drill in their improvised armories ight, but each of them for a connumber of days in the month is deen "artire duty" when he sees at might, but each of them for a sertain number of days in the month is called on "active duty," when he soes off to the country to practice target shooting, or else to participate in some practice march or other manusurer.

Let no one mistake the temper of the rank and file of the volunteers. The leader may, at the last moment, conscit to compromise to avoid the horror of clyli war, but there is no horror that can compare with home rule in the scatted minds of these people.

It is almost unbelievable, from the standpoint of the outsider, that the British government as yet has done nothing to stop this organisation of an army that is acting in defiance of hw and that announces its intention of resisting the enforcement of a certain act of parliament.

The man in the streets in Belfast mays it has done nothing because even a Liberal government, with all its hideous criminal traits, would not dare to shoot down the most loyal subjects of the king.

hideous criminal trains, to shoot down the most loyal subjects of the king.

The man in the streets in London says the government has done nothing because it reguires an army to deal will an army, and the government knows that the British army is much more in sympathy with the Unster volunteers than with the present government of the couples.

WOMEN PLAN TO "HOLD UP" KING GEORGE, IS ALLEGED

KING GEORGE, IS ALLEGED Losdon, Eng. June 4.—An attempt fortbly to hold up king George at toulght's court at Buckingham palace is the latest compiracy charged to the suffragets. The Evening Standard, which is responsible for the story, says
the police discovered disborate plans for obtaining access to the court, including forged cards of admission.
The alleged plot is credited to Mrs.
Emmeltie Pankburst. Precautions have been taken, it is believed, which will make it impossible to carry out the plan.

the plan.

Police arrangements at the court are likely to prove irregular for the king's guests. The procession of carriages arriving at the palace will have to run the gauntlet of a cordon of plain clothes detectives and police stationed at all approaches.

GARKS ARE POSIFOSED

Rain caused the postponement of various hig league games today, among them the following: National, Boston at Brooklyn, New York at Philadelphia, St. Louis at Pitisburg, American, Philadelphia at Boston; St. Louis at Detroit; Washington at New York, Federal, Buffalo at Brooklyn; Baltimore at Pitisburg. at all approaches.

Every carriage will be held up and every woman will have to produce credentials. Detectives acquainted with the features of the leading militants will scrutinize the moving throns.

Counsel for Rapp, who has filed a cross bill, deferred their statement to the lury.

Mme. Schumann-Heink, the first witness, gave her residence as 2572 Michigan avenue. Her dometic traits were remembered by the speciators with smiles when, in insisting that this was her real home, the witness said:

"When I am here I live there and every day I help in tidying up and cionning the place. I do washing, too."

Well Known Here.

She and Rapp separated three years ago.
Direct examination by attorney Mayer cessed abruptly without any attempt to go into witness life with Rapp or his alleged relations with Mra. Dean. Converse was one of the American legion who, while serving in Orozco's army, were arrested and jailed in Juarez. Their release was ordered by Forfirle Diaz then president of Mexico. Converse married an El Paso girl and her mother still lives in El Paso. A few months ago Converse created a sensation on Missouri street in El Paso, when he took his sum child from his motheriniaw while his wife was lil. He was held in the city jail in El Paso several hours.

Singer's Eyes Fill With Tears.

The singer's eyes filled with tears in speaking of improving her bouse in New Jersey, and she apologized for her ilmited command of English.

She has eight children, one adopted and seven by previous marriages. The oldest is 32 years of age.

Ben M. Smith, counsel for Rapp, directed his first queries to assertain whether the winess, who was born in Prague, Australia. Is years ago, has a right to sue in this county. She said she had been singing in the United States for 15 years.

"Were you at home last Christmas?" she was asked.

"At home last Christmas? Of course I was. I couldn't forget the most important thing in my life." came the answer.
